BRVAN WON'T BEN AGAIN, UNLESS—

"Circumstances" Might Make Him Candidate, He Writes from Cairo, Egypt.

St. Louis, May 11.—That William Jennings Bryan never gets so far from home that the buzz of the presidential bee fails to reach his ears, is indicated by a letter from Mr. Bryan, mailed at Cairo, Egypt, received by Moses Wetmore, of St. Louis. Mr. Bryan writes that he does not want another nomination, "unless circumstances seem to demand it."

In his letter which, after the fashion of Eastern potentates, is signed with a single name, Mr. Bryan says: "Cairo, Egypt, April 16, 1906.—My Dear Col. Wetmore: My brother has forwarded me your letter, I am always glad to hear from you even if your flattering reports do make me blush."

"I am satisfied that the things I have been fighting for are growing, but who will be the most available in 1908 is a question that cannot be answered now."

"I shall not do anything to secure another nomination, and do not want it unless circumstances seem to demand it—time alone can determine that."

"I appreciate your deep interest in the matter, and shall want to see you as soon as I get home. 'BRYAN.'"

AND SOME HOSPITAL NOTES

This afternoon the regular spring quarterly meeting of the Illinois Central Railroad Hospital Association is being held, and the board in its entirety is present.

Supt. A. H. Egan, of the Louisville division, arrived last night and was about today for a short time, but is here indefinitely having entered the hospital for treatment for malaria fever. He has been ill for several days.

The other officials arrived this morning and the board is as follows: H. McCurt, superintendent of southern lines; A. H. Egan, superintendent; Roadmaster F. L. Thompson, Master Mechanic R. J. The board will have little to do, the principle business being routine. The matter of beautifying the hospital yard will come up. It has been suggested that the association remove the fence, now that the cow ordinance is being enforced, and it is said this will be favorably considered. It will beautify the yard a great deal and have an effect of setting off the hospital building to a better advantage.

The board will also take up the matter of repairing the interior of the building and order other such improvements as may be necessary. Mr. Egan is in attendance although he is hardly able to be out. His physicians advise him to keep close for several days in order to permanently recover. His illness is not serious and the many friends of the popular superintendent will regret to learn of his illness.

OPENING OF RUSSIA'S DOUMA

Effected Without a Hitch But With Some Significance.

Emperor Nicholas Appeared Surrounded By All Pomp and the Pomp of Power.

CHEERED ONLY BY SUPPORTERS

St. Petersburg, May 11.—Without a single hitch and with only a minor incident to make a memorable day the Russian parliament was inaugurated. The stage management of the impressive ceremony at the Winter Palace where Emperor Nicholas, surrounded by courtiers and all the pomp and panoply of power, delivered his speech from the throne to the members of the two houses was perfect. Such a spectacle, perhaps, never before had been witnessed on the earth's stage.

The message in reality was less a throne speech than a greeting and required only three minutes for delivery. Emperor Nicholas read slowly and admirably. Even the cordial tone of the sovereign in renewing his pledges and asking the co-operation of the parliament for the regeneration of the country was only negatively satisfactory.

Only Supporters Cheered.

Courtiers and spectators, other than members of the national parliament, led the cheering, but the members were ominously silent, expressing neither approval nor disapproval. What ruffled most was the failure of the emperor to mention any and later when the members assembled in the Tauride Palace away from the spell of the throne room, many of them were with difficulty restrained from participating in the matter by offering resolutions on the subject.

The constitutional democratic leaders, however, who dominated everything, were anxious not to weaken the reply which the lower house will prepare to the speech from the throne, in which the issues with the crown will be joined, and succeeded in stifling off premature action.

Contrasting Scenes.

The scene around Tauride Palace was in striking contrast with that at the Winter Palace. Each, indeed was typical and told an eloquent story. At Tauride Palace tens of thousands of people were acclaiming their representatives; at the Winter Palace legions of military and courtiers by the hundreds cheered for the emperor. Nevertheless the proceedings of the lower house were not spectacular; in fact they were almost tame in comparison with those at the Winter Palace.

The only genuine flashes of fire which showed the real temper of the members of the house were when Prof. Mourontseff, who had been elected president of the house, invited the government officials and clerks to leave the hall and when Ivan Petrunkevich, in a few eloquent words from the rostrum, told his auditors that the first thought of the parliament should be for those who had suffered in the cause of liberty, and now filled prisons and whose names were stretched out in the hope and confidence to the peoples' representatives. More enthusiastic cheering than that which greeted this appeal never was heard in a political convention anywhere.

"Constitution and amnesty" were the keywords of Mourontseff's speech in a "foolish dreamer's" dream.

By the irony of fate, Ivan Petrunkevich, whose first mention of the word constitution 12 years ago was dismissed by Emperor Nicholas as a "foolish dreamer," stood in the front rank of the members of the representative chambers while Emperor Nicholas put his final seal upon the Russian parliament and begged the representatives of the people to co-operate with him in working for the welfare of the country.

The lower house of parliament adjourned over a day, in order not to interfere with the opening exercises of the council of the empire and also to permit the committee of constitutional democrats to consider the reply to the speech from the throne.

White, the Ex-Premier.

A pathetic figure in the scene at the palace was that of Count Witte, of whom the correspondent of the Associated Press caught a glimpse before the ceremony, pacing the corridor, entirely alone. Later he entered the throne hall clad in the gold and black uniform of a secretary of state, one of the highest dignitaries of the court, which still remains to him, and with the ribbon of the Alexander Nevsky order on his breast. He took his place in the ranks of the bureaucracy. Former Interior Minister Minister Durnovo was there too, chatting animatedly and earnestly with his companions, but Witte seemed to find a cold welcome from everyone. Finally he wandered away and stood apart until the imperial pageant approached.

After the adjournment of parliament there was a great celebration in front of the rooms of the Constitutional club, to which the leaders had retired for consultation. Thousands of people paced the adjoining streets and shouted and cheered until the leaders appeared on the balcony and spoke. Their words were received with frantic applause. In the crowd, stump speakers, including socialist deputies, from barrels and cart tails delivered orations. Though open air gatherings are illegal the police did not interfere.

Will Ask for Amnesty.

At conference of the constitutional democratic leaders it was decided in Prof. Mourontseff, when he is received in audience by Emperor Nicholas to receive the imperial confirmation of his election to the presidency of lower house, should broach the subject of immediate amnesty to political offenders.

A celebration in honor of the opening of parliament was held today in every city of the empire. The only disturbances were at Simbirsk and several cities of Poland where there were collisions between the police and boycotting factions and revolutionary students.

CHARGES OF FRAUD STRONGLY MADE

Declared Bribery and Dishonesty in the Evidence.

Standard Oil Company Alleged to Have Practiced Many Underhand Business Ways.

SOME VERY BOLD STATEMENTS.

Chicago, Ill., May 11.—Corruption of railroad employees and agents of the independent oil companies, dishonest methods of procuring land leases, giving of short measure and the selling of three different kinds of oil out of the same tank and misrepresentations as to the quality of oil sold, were charged against the Standard Oil company at yesterday's hearing before the interstate commerce commission. Incidentally it was charged the Frisco road gives a rate of 2 cents per hundred to the Standard Oil company when it charges competitors of the corporation 10 times as much for the same haul. The inquiry was held under an order of congress and the session held here today was about the same thing as that held some time ago in Kansas City.

Witness Will Not.

The principal witness today was E. M. Wilhoit, of Springfield, Mo., formerly for ten years agent of the Standard Oil company at Topeka, Kan. He was the one who made the charges of bribery and dishonesty against the company and said that the Frisco road discriminated in favor of the Standard Oil company. Other witnesses for the day were H. C. Deeran, Fremont, Ohio; E. P. Hopley, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road and M. Maxon, former agent of the Standard Oil company in Illinois. The last witness gave testimony which in many instances was the same as that given by Wilhoit.

Bold Statements.

Wilhoit in the course of his testimony said the Standard Oil company would obtain information regarding shipments by the independents and then rush oil on passenger trains to consignment beating freights and then undersell the independents. He said the Frisco gave the Standard Oil a rate of two cents per hundred out of Springfield, Mo., while the independents were charged twenty cents. Besides this, he said the Frisco held shipments of the independents as long as eight days, allowing the Standard Oil to get to the point of destination first.

Fire at Pinar Del Rio.

The fire could not be checked until some buildings were blown up with dynamite. Loss $400,000.

City Solicitor Campbell to Press the Telephone Company Injunction.

The city solicitor has been ordered to go ahead with the prosecution of the Cumberland telephone litigation and will immediately make a motion to take up the trial of the temporary injunction issued by Federal Judge Walter Evans against the city, to restrain it from interfering with the operation of the telephone company until the litigation can be tried and settled on its merits.

The city solicitor has recommended that the matter be compromised, but the boards did not like the idea of backing down after making such a hard fight and surrendering with the restraining order against the city. It is the consensus of opinion in the boards that it is better to first secure a dissolution of the injunction and then effect a compromise. The board of aldermen seemed to disfavor compromising at all, but the council as a body seems to be favorable for a settlement out of court.

"The way I look at the matter is this," a well known legislator stated. "The telephone litigation was instituted by a democratic administration headed by the mayor. They made a bad job of it and we inherited the white elephant. As city officials we are supposed to act for the best interests of the people, and there is a question in my mind as to whether we are doing it when we shoulder this white elephant and spend probably thousands of dollars of the city's money in prosecuting the case I fall to see where we will gain, even if we win. The city solicitor's argument for a compromise seems very clear and good, and instead of spending money, in this apparently hopeless fight, I think it best to compromise on the lines originally agreed on by the council and telephone company. The difference is but little, and the telephone company has competition or will have sufficiently to require it to keep rates down."

Whatever action is taken in the matter has to be taken at once, before Judge Evans' departure for Europe. He will leave Louisville June 1st, and will June 12th, and it will be some time before his return. The question, in the minds of the municipal officials seems to be the interest of the people, but the boards differ widely on it. It is understood, if the solicitor is successful in dissolving the injunction, it is not a victory of either side, as a compromise is probable where either side holds an advantage.

More enthusiastic cheering than that which greeted this appeal never was heard in a political convention anywhere.

"Constitution and amnesty" were the keywords of Mouroumstov's speech. A "foolish dreamer," Dr. Kovalevich, whose first mention of the word constitution 12 years ago was dismissed by Emperor Nicholas II, as "a foolish dreamer," stood in the front rank of the members of the representative chambers while Emperor Nicholas put his final seal upon the Russian parliament and begged the representatives of the people to co-operate with him in working for the welfare of the country.

The lower house of parliament adjourned over a day, in order not to interfere with the opening exercises of the council of the empire and also to permit the committee of constitutional democrats to consider the reply to the speech from the throne.

While the Emperor, in the scene at the palace was that of Count Witte, of whom the correspondent of the Associated Press caught a glimpse before the ceremony, pacing the corridor, entirely alone. Later he entered the throne hall clad in the gold and black uniform of a secretary of state, one of the highest dignitaries of the court, which still remains to him, and with the ribbon of the Alexander Nevsky order on his breast. He took his place in the ranks of the bureaucracy. Former Interior Minister Minister Durnovo was there too, chatting animatedly and earnestly with his companions, but Witte seemed to find a cold welcome from everyone. Finally he wandered away and stood apart until the imperial pageant approached.

After the adjournment of parliament there was a great celebration in front of the rooms of the Constitutional club, to which the leaders had retired for consultation. Thousands of people paced the adjoining streets and shouted and cheered until the leaders appeared on the balcony and spoke. Their words were received with frantic applause. In the crowd, stump speakers, including socialist deputies, from barrels and cart tails delivered orations. Though open air gatherings are illegal the police did not interfere.

Will Ask for Amnesty.

At conference of the constitutional democratic leaders it was decided in Prof. Mouroumstov, when he is received in audience by Emperor Nicholas to receive the imperial confirmation of his election to the presidency of lower house, should broach the subject of immediate amnesty to political offenders.

A celebration in honor of the opening of parliament was held today in every city of the empire. The only disturbances were at Simbirsk and several cities of Poland where there were collisions between the police and boycotting factions and revolutionary students.

CORONER'S VERDICT

IN THE CASE OF JEMIMA MITCHELL. NEW EXONERATES WALLACE & IVERSON.

Result of Analysis of the Woman's Stomach by Expert Heard Before Jury.

The jury in the case of Jemima Mitchell, the colored woman who died very suddenly about two months ago from a supposed dose of morphine, claimed to have been sold her for quinine by Iverson & Wallace, met last night at the office of Justice Charles Emery to receive the result of the analysis of the stomach by an expert of Louisville. His report showed no morphine in the stomach completely vindicating the drugists, and the jury brought in a verdict that death was caused by unknown causes.

The verdict is gratifying to the Messrs. Iverson & Wallace and their friends.

The jury was as follows: H. D. Phillips, C. J. Holcomb, J. H. Flach, J. P. Mullin, J. H. Gilbert and J. T. Whitton.

NOTED COLORED THIEF MAKES HIS LAST RUN.

Crossed Under the "String" of Death in Louisville This Morning.

Louisville, May 11.—Edward Dudley Brown, known in the turf world as "Brown Dick," is dead. Tuberculosis was the cause. The end came at 8:20 West Walnut street early this morning. His age was fifty-six years. "Brown Dick" was one of the best known colored trainers in America. He was the last of the aristocratic negro trainers. Born in the heart of the bluegrass, with the thoroughbred's closest acquaintance since childhood, he passed away talking of the many noted horses he had either owned or trained in the long ago.

FRISCO BANKS ARE ALL RIGHT.

Washington, May 11.—The senate met an hour earlier than usual today with the view of reaching a final vote on the judicial review features of the railroad-rate bill before adjournment this afternoon.

The senate yesterday completed the consideration of the second section of the railroad rate bill and just before adjournment listened to the reading of sections three and four without considering any amendments offered to them. The purpose of this reading was to bring the consideration of the bill up to the point of taking up the Allison compromise amendments, which will be done this afternoon.

Violent Storms in Germany.

The first building permit for permanent construction has been issued. It is for a ten-story building on Market street.

Cody, Neb., May 11.—At 6:25 o'clock Wednesday night an earthquake shock, lasting nearly one minute, passed through the Elkhorn valley, the earth seeming to move north and south. CHARGES OF FRAUD STRONGLY MADE

Declared Bribery and Dishonesty in the Evidence.

Standard Oil Company Alleged to Have Practiced Many Underhand Business Ways.

SOME VERY BOLD STATEMENTS.

Chicago, Ill., May 11.—Corruption of railroad employees and agents of the independent oil companies, dishonest methods of procuring land leases, giving of short measure and the selling of three different kinds of oil out of the same tank and misrepresentations as to the quality of oil sold, were charged against the Standard Oil company at yesterday's hearing before the interstate commerce commission. Incidentally it was charged the Frisco road gives a rate of 2 cents per hundred in the Standard Oil company when it charges competitors of the corporation 10 times as much for the same haul. The inquiry was held under an order of congress and the session held here today was along the same lines as that held some time ago in Kansas City.

Witness Wilhoit.

The principal witness today was E. M. Wilhoit, of Springfield, Mo., formerly for ten years agent of the Standard Oil company at Topeka, Kan. He was he who made the charges of bribery and dishonesty against the company and said that the Frisco road discriminated in favor of the Standard Oil company. Other witnesses for the day were H. C. Deenan, Fremont, Ohio; E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road and M. Maxon, former agent of the Standard Oil company in Illinois. The last witness gave testimony which in many instances was the same as that given by Wilhoit.

Bold Statements.

Wilhoit in the course of his testimony said the Standard Oil company would obtain information regarding shipments by the independents and then rush oil on passenger trains to consignees heating freights and then undersell the independents. He said the Frisco gave the Standard Oil a rate of two cents per hundred out of Springfield, Mo., while the independents were charged twenty cents. Besides this, he said the Frisco held shipments of the independents as long as eight days, allowing the Standard Oil to get to the point of destination first.

The fire could not be checked until some buildings were blown up with dynamite. Loss $400,000.

City Solicitor Campbell to Press the Telephone Company Injunction.

The city solicitor has been ordered to go ahead with the prosecution of the Cumberland telephone litigation and will immediately make a motion to take up the trial of the temporary injunction issued by Federal Judge Walter Evans against the city, to restrain it from interfering with the operation of the telephone company until the litigation can be tried and settled on its merits.

The city solicitor has recommended that the matter be compromised, but the boards did not like the idea of backing down after making such a hard fight and surrendering with the restraining order against the city. It is the consensus of opinion in the boards that it is better to first secure a dissolution of the injunction and then effect a compromise. The board of aldermen seemed to disfavor compromising at all, but the council as a body seems to be favorable for a settlement out of court.

"The way I look at the matter is this," a well known legislator stated. "The telephone litigation was instituted by a democratic administration headed by the mayor. They made a bad job of it and we inherited the white elephant. As city officials we are supposed to act for the best in-

THE CLASS DAY PROGRAM ARRANGED

Seniors Have Arranged Exercises for Event.

Miss Morgan Requested to Take Place On State Teachers' Association Program.

SCHOOL NOTES OF INTEREST

The committee of seniors to which the matter of arranging a program for the Class Day exercises was referred have arranged the program and presented it to the faculty for ratification. The faculty reserves the right to make any changes deemed necessary, and while the program will stand principally as arranged by the committee, it is possible that some little rearranging will be done.

The Program.

The following are the numbers selected by the committee and the seniors elected to the honors: Class Historian—Marie Wilcox. Class Prophet—Lorraine Jones. Class Will—Cora Richardson. Class Poet—Cassandra Ware. Class Auctioneer—Mary Bondurant.

Senior Adviser—Emma Meyers.

In addition to this there will be solos, orations and musical numbers. Among these will be a vocal solo by Miss Caroline Ham and an oration by Mr. Thomas Woodbridge. Mr. Will Bell will hand down the spade the implement of toil, to the junior, but the juniors to receive it has not been selected. Mr. Hett Nichola was the junior selected at noon today to receive the spade.

The program as outlined above was accepted by the faculty at noon today.

Miss Morgan Honored.

Miss Emma Morgan, a teacher of English in the High school, has been honored with an invitation to permit her name to appear on the program of the state teachers' meeting. She will accept.

Teachers' Meeting.

The regular monthly teachers' meeting, as previously announced, is being held this afternoon at the High school. The pupils were dismissed for the afternoon in order that the teachers attend.

Musical Direction.

Miss Ada Brazleton has been selected to have charge of the musical numbers, instrumental and orchestral, and Mrs. Daisy Winfrey, teacher of music in the schools, has been charged with the direction of the vocal numbers on the High school class day and commencement program.

Fire at Pinar Del Rio.

Havana, May 11.—Fire in the heart of Pinar Del Rio yesterday afternoon swept an entire square and part of another and destroyed a hotel, several leading business houses and some better class of residences. The fire could not be checked until some buildings were blown up with dynamite. Loss $400,000.

interests of the people, and there is a question in my mind as to whether we are doing it when we shoulder this white elephant and spend probably thousands of dollars of the city's money in prosecuting the case. I fail to see where we will gain, even if we win. The city solicitor's argument for a compromise seems very clear and good, and instead of spending money, in this apparently hopeless fight, I think it best to compromise on the lines originally agreed on by the council and telephone company. The difference is but little, and the telephone company has competition or will have sufficiently to require it to keep rates down."

Today's Schedule.

Jackson at Mattoon.

An errorless game, solid team work, desperate base running with patience at the bat, is responsible for yesterday's victory over Danville.

It was the eighth consecutive victory for the Indians, and the big 1,000 per cent mark remains intact.

Who dares to break it?
Yesterday's battle was from start to finish, and but for an unfortunate base on balls followed by a sacrifice and chance three base hit, the Indians would have closed in on the Danville aggregation with a shut-out.

Paducah scored her winning run, however, through a gift of the pitcher. It was a patient wait for four wide and high ones and "Red" Perry is the Indian whose glimmers did the work. With the bases full "Red" waited at the plate and got a walk. This forced in the second and winning run.

The story can be briefly written. The Indians would have scored in the first inning but for a horse shoe hanging on the neck of Third Baseman Spencer. He cut down, with a sensational one-handed stab, a beautiful double hit from Wetzel. Haas was on first and McClain second when the trick was turned. It was the third out, but the Indians went in with renewed courage.

In the second inning Perry and Miller were retired in order. Nipper hit out a single to right field and Fred Miller got a stroll to first. Qulessier tried to throw Miller out at first while the big pitcher was playing off the sack preparing for a steal, but the ball went wild and Willis let it go through him. Nipper scored on the play. Taylor walked and McClain grounded out, retiring the side.

In the second inning the Indians received the gift. Gilligan got four of a kind and Haas singled. Wetzel followed with a single and filled the bases. Perry waited for four and got them, forcing in the run.

The Danville aggregation got one score in the fourth inning. O'Connell walked and Holycross sacrificed him. Morrow grounded out and Qulessier scored O'Connell with a three sacker. Qulessier died on third.

The remainder of the game was a hard battle. Fred Miller played sensational ball covering 3rd on punt, throw from third to first. Wetzel had left the sack for the hunt and Haas shot the ball to third to cut off Holycross. Fred Miller was there to receive it, and but for this action it might have been a defeat for the Indians.

Tom Tom Echoes.

Gilligan had ten chances yesterday, some of them mighty hard ones too, without an error. That's going some.
Big Fred Miller was wild yesterday, using only straight over speed balls, and Nipper was kept working over time.

The Boston Bloomer Girls defeated the Marlon, Ill., team Wednesday by a score of 5 to 4. They play here May 20.

Nipper caught the last out yesterday, a high fly foul, and the fans heaved a sigh of relief when he did it.

With a two sack hit and three more hitters to come, the Danville bunch failed to score in the last inning. Yet the management jumped on Veatch and claimed he "haunted" it to Paducah. Veatch is by far the best umpire we have seen on the Kitty diamond in many seasons. You have to cut the oyster for Peck-a-Boo Veatch but it is as fair for one side as the other.
O when will they ever quit jump-

IS IT TAYLOR OR CARMACK?

Tennessee's Sensational Primary Ends Saturday

With Fair Deal the Former Governor Has Chance to Down the Machine.

INTEREST IN RACE IS INTERSE

Nashville, Tenn., May 11.—The most memorable political campaign ever known in Tennessee will come to a close tonight and on Saturday the democrats of the state will hold a primary election for the purpose of selecting the man who shall serve them in the United States senate as successor to the present senior senator, the Hon. E. W. Carmack. The senator is opposed in his contest for a second term by ex-Gov. H. L. Taylor, who for three terms occupied the executive chair of this state.

The contest for senator practically began last fall, when several open letters from both candidates were published. This public correspondence was followed by an active campaign on the stump which practically covered every county in the state, and during which both candidates made more than 100 speeches, being received by large crowds. The friends of both candidates have completed thorough organizations in every county of the state, and are hard at work for their candidate. Both sides seem confident of success.

While it cannot be denied that if the primary had been held several months ago Gov. Taylor would have certainly received the nomination, there has been such a decided change of sentiment reported all over the state that the indications are that the senator will be victorious by a safe majority. The result of the primary will, however, doubtless be close.

The campaign has many sensational features, charges and counter charges having been freely indulged in on both sides. The interest is now most intense, and the lines are tightly drawn by the opposing forces. Senator Carmack will close his campaign with a rally here tonight, and Gov. Taylor with a rally at Jackson also tonight.

BY MAYFIELD MILL.

The Kevils, of Princeton, to Locate the Graves' Capital.

Mayfield, Ky., May 11. — Wednesday afternoon Wilford Stunton & Co., sold their big mill on North Ninth street to R. U. Kevill & Sons of Princeton, Ky. The new owners will take charge in ten days.

The old firm, composed of R. O. Wilford, J. L. Stunton and Lindsay Hale, has been doing business for the past few years at this location, and have built up a considerable business.

R. U. Kevill & Sons are old time millers and have met with perhaps more success than any other firm of its kind in this end of the state.

The senior Mr. Kevill has been in the mill business at Princeton for many years.

One of the sons, Urey Kevill, Jr., will come to Mayfield to take charge of their new business.

ON A PLEASURE JAUNT.

Retired Capitalist Passes Paducah With Fleet of Fine Boats.

Mr. Lafayette Lamb, of Clinton Iowa, a retired capitalist, passed Paducah yesterday aboard one of his four pleasure crafts which he is taking to Louisville on a pleasure excursion.

Mr. Lamb has some of the finest pleasure boats on the inland rivers. The four which passed Paducah are the yacht "Wanderer," houseboat "Idler," yacht "Chaperone" and house boat "Summer Girl." In the party with Captain Lamb are Mrs. Lafayette Lamb, Capt. Lee Gordon, Mrs. R. Huffman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bingham, Mrs. E. B. McCullough, the Misses McCullough, George Wilson, Commodore J. I. Dooley and Captain Thomas Dawson.

What a Boy Did.

An illustration of what a boy can do was demonstrated at Danbury, N. H., the other day when by the purchase of valuable farm property Dexter J. Perkins became Danbury's heaviest taxpayer.

Mr. Perkins was one of the last little town charges sold under the old pitiless system of auctioning off little boys. That was fifty years ago. He was one of six children. His mother died and his father, being ill and unable to provide for his little flock, appealed to the selectmen. The auction of the lad was advertised by the town clerk throughout the village as a town charge.

From a boy without a cent, without shoes or stockings, and with ragged clothing, Dexter J. Perkins' ambition, energy and shrewdness have won for him the distinction of being the most prominent man in Danbury.

Judge not today, lest tomorrow the ones judged will be evening up a judgment against you.

Then, too, Belts, Neckwear and Underclothing, Hats and Night Garments are suggested by the warm weather. Suffice it to say that we are headquarters for these things, and we have what you want at the price you want to pay.

The Value of a Suit of Clothes

Depends to a great extent on the manner in which it is made and trimmed. Almost any reliable house can be depended upon for honesty so far as fabrics are concerned. Fit, style and tailoring require ability, skill. You want fabrics of quality to be sure, but you must have these other things, too. You should not judge clothes only by the fabrics. We'd like to show you our idea of value--you would better understand our argument on clothes.

Some Facts About the New Russian Parliament.

Meeting place is Tauride palace, St. Petersburg.

Parliament granted by czar August 19, 1905.

Consists of two bodies—the council of the empire and the douma, or national assembly.

Half the council is appointed by the czar and the other half by the nobles and clergy.

Douma has 371 elected members. Constitutional democrats have a clear working majority in douma. Both bodies have equal legislative powers.

Their oath of office is: "We promise to perform our duties to the best of our knowledge and ability in all loyalty to his majesty, and mindful only of the welfare of Russia."

Ministers are eligible to election to the douma.

Sessions of both the douma and council of the empire are public.

Closure of a debate may be voted by a majority.

Members of both bodies are immune from arrest during the session, except by permission of the bodies to which they belong, unless guilty of flagrant offenses.

Only bills passed by both bodies may be submitted for the emperor's sanction.

Bills rejected by the emperor may not be brought forward again in the course of the same session of parliament.

Bills rejected by one of the legislative bodies require imperial assent before being reintroduced.

The czar retains the power to dissolve parliament at will and to promulgate "temporary" laws during "recess."

The douma cannot consider the reports of the minister of finance, charges of malfeasance against officials of the government, the establishment of stock companies with special privileges, and questions relating to entailed estates, titles of nobility.

Light by Tomorrow.

It is thought that the repairs being made to the boiler foundation and machinery at the city power house, which has necessitated the shutting down of the plant and discontinuation of the city street lighting service will be completed by tomorrow night. The work has been pushed rapidly and only a little mains to be done.

Beatrice Sacchi, a professor at the University of Padua, Italy, is the first woman to vote in Italy. There is no law in Italy to prevent a woman from voting. Miss Sacchi covered this and to the poll voted.

Daily Thought.

It was Lincoln's cheerfulness and sense of humor that enabled him to stand under the terrible load of the Civil war.—O. S. Marden.

The evidence being adduced, before the Interstate commerce commission investigation of the Standard Oil company's way of doing business, now under way in Chicago, is quite rare and rare. An ex-employee of the Standard, who is now a business opponent, is testifying to bribery of railroad clerks, employers of opposition companies and even to false grading of oils and other like nefarious transactions. If this evidence is substantiated and other like charges made good the Standard Oil trust are short of the proper lines, shades, etc.

Ptomaine may have, as the telegraph says, caused the death of the Richmond, Ind., young lady who mixed strawberry shortcake and spinach and ate the mixture, but the boy who recalls the effects of overfeeding himself with green apples and such "provender," will hold to another idea. But there is little in what's eaten in such instances, unless it be camphor or something else just as heating.

"Fashion announces," says an eastern paper, "that the hoop skirt is coming round again." Well, how else could it come? A hoop is a circle and must "come round" or not at all, if it would be a hoop of any kind. Ideas are so funny sometimes, and the "hoop skirt" folly is clear evidence of this fact.

There is no south, east, west or north just now so far as the weather is concerned. Frosts and snows in southlands are reported as frequently these days as in the other sections of the country. Why Maryland is now lying under a four days' fall of the Beey white.

The courts have put the Zion City affairs in the hands of three trustees and permitted Dowle and Voliva to name one each, the third to be selected by the two. It is believed and to be hoped this dogfall will end the Zion City mess in the public print at least.

PATIENTS WITH SMALLPOX PLAY BASEBALL GAME

Inmates At Maryland Pest House Organize Teams and Have Matches Daily.

Baltimore, Md., May 11.—Smallpox baseball games are a novelty introduced near Crisfield, Md., where there have been a number of cases of that disease lately.

The malady is in a mild form. There is a fine open field in the rear of the pest house, where patients enjoy fresh air and exercise. They have organized two baseball teams and every afternoon they play match games, every player having the marks of the disease on him. Most of the players are convalescents.

On the piers on the Crisfield side of the river crowds gather to watch the novel spectacle on the quarantined field.

United States Subtreasurer A. Lincoln Dryden, who returned from Crisfield today, said:

"This is the first instance on record where persons stricken with dreadful disease have been unconfinned and have amused themselves playing ball in the open."

While Americans take great pride and pleasure in being called "a strenuous people," it is perhaps not generally appreciated that a great many injure themselves physically—wreck nervous systems, invite premature wrinkles, gray hairs and infirmities by the hurry, worry way in which they live, neglecting in many instances proper care of the body and letting the real pleasures of life escape as a forfeit. Unrestrained strenuousness means neurasthenia ultimately.

Neurasthenia is nerve-exhaustion and that means inefficiency of the body to carry on vital functioning. Nerve centers lag; debility ensues; listlessness and fatigue reign. Pain may be felt in the back; fullness or pressure at the top of the head; sleep is broken and without refreshment; digestion notably is weak and loss of appetite, constipation and distress after eating are the rule. The headache of neurasthenia is like a hand around the head; ordinarily is worse in the morning and better towards the end of day, and is probably the most common of all headaches which come for treatment.

Now, drugs do not help neurasthenia; that is admitted; and physicians have long been accustomed to send their neurasthenics away from the cities to the mountains, seashore, abroad or anywhere to find new scenes and enjoy tranquil restoration. But that is expensive and there is a surer, quicker and better way as well as less costly way—Osteopathy.

Osteopathy cures neurasthenia, which is but another name for nervousness, by stimulation to the nerves and the circulation.

I can show you to your satisfaction in a very few minutes why osteopathy is the same rational cure for ALL diseases of the nerves.

Come to see me at any time between the hours of 9 and 12 in the forenoon and 2 and 5 in the afternoon. Dr. G. B. Froage, 516 Broadway. Phone 1407.

CHILD'S DEATH

RESULTED FROM A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT AT JACKSON, TENN.

Lad's Parents Formerly Lived Here, Where Many Friends and Some Relatives Reside.

Edgard Holland, age five years, was run over and instantly killed yesterday afternoon in Jackson, Tenn., by a steam street roller.

The little fellow was playing in the street where the roller was at work, it is said, and a negro was in charge of the machine. The killing was purely accidental, as far as can be learned, though details are lacking.

The boy was the son of D. C. Holland, a former resident of Paducah, who moved to Jackson, Tenn., a short time ago.

J. W. Holland, of 1220 Bernhelm avenue, is an uncle of the little fellow, and was notified last night of the death over the telephone. This morning he went to Jackson to attend the funeral.

A. G. GILBERT DEAD.

Former Resident of Paducah Dies in McKenzie, Tenn.

Mr. A. G. Gilbert, a former resident of the city, died in McKenzie, Tenn. News of the death reached Paducah in the shape of a telegram to Mr. Gardner Gilbert, of the West Kentucky Coal company, a nephew. No particulars of the death were given.

The deceased was 78 years old and resided in Paducah for several years prior to his removal to McKenzie last September. He was first located at Murray in the tobacco business and moved to Paducah. He operated a warehouse at Tenth and Broadway but was burned out last August, and following the fire he went to McKenzie to reside. He came to Paducah often, and was here only last week.

Mr. Gardner Gilbert has gone to McKenzie to attend the funeral.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS.

Are to Be Made by Cumberland Telephone Company in This Section.

Mr. C. L. Meyers, an official of the Cumberland Telephone company, and Manager A. L. Joyner, of the local exchange, returned from Wickliffe and other towns in Ballard county this morning after looking over the new acquisition, the Wickliffe telephone property.

Improvements have been mapped out and will be executed at once. The Cumberland people expect to make other improvements in this end of the state and the inspection made by Mr. Leland Hume and other officials in an automobile overland several weeks ago is beginning to bear fruit.

Consul Makes His Report.

Washington, May 11.—The promised mail report concerning the seizure of American fishing vessels off Yucatan coast by a Mexican gunboat has reached the state department from Edward Thompson the American consul at Progresso, to which port the seized vessels were taken. The report makes it evident that the American consul acted with energy and speed in behalf of the captured fishermen. His statement also indicates that more vessels were seized than were reported through the press dispatches.

Paid Their Fines and Will Reorganize.

St. Paul, Minn., May 11.—The fight of the paper trust in United States circuit court here against the government was abandoned today when the Minnesota directors of the trust paid the fines imposed during the recent proceedings for refusing to answer questions in a suit to have the trust declared unlawful. It is reported that the General Paper company will reorganize on lines not in conflict with the Sherman anti-trust law.

Charged With Larceny.

R. E. Cecil, a blacksmith of Morganfield, Ky., employed at the Putman shop on Washington street near Second was arrested this afternoon by Officer E. A. Cross for alleged theft of a watch from W. R. Parker, another blacksmith.

The officer states that he has a witness who will make oath that he saw Cecil take the watch from Parker when the latter was not himself two nights ago.

TIPS.

DO YOU EVER stop to think what a market place these columns are? It is remarkable the number of ways in which The Sun's want ad columns are used. If you have anything at all for sale, you will most probably find a purchaser by putting in a little want ad. Some one may be looking for just what you want. Try it.

IT IS INCONCEIVABLE what you can do through the medium of an ad in this column. It is the most widely read column in the paper, and is very likely the market place for the people who have anything they wish to dispose of, houses to rent, rooms to rent, will take boarders, have lost anything and so on through the list. Try it yourself.

IN CLEANING HOUSE, did you find some old clothes, or furniture or ornaments you have no use for? Try selling them by a little want ad in this column. You may strike the right person at the right time.

ARE YOU DISSATISFIED for any reason with the house you live in? Get another through this column. There are a host of desirable houses in Paducah just now, and you will get what you want.

WOULD YOU LIKE a few boarders, advertise for them in this column. Every day we get tired of our boarding houses and would welcome a change if we knew where to go. You will find it by a Tips ad.

IF YOU ARE going away for the summer, the Tips column will rent your furnished house for you, or your rooms.

Young Girls

Avoid The Dangers and Sufferings of Womanhood

At this time of life, when just entering upon womanhood, nature makes heavy drains upon the vitality, especially at each monthly period, the most wonderful of all tonic restorative medicines for women, will tide a young girl over this trying time and bring her safely into strong, noble, beautiful womanhood.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Beautiful High School Girl

My Dear Mrs. PINKHAM:—I write to see if you can suggest some means to cure me. A little more than a year ago I was unwell for the first time, and since then I have been sick all the time in some way or other and suffered with painful and irregular periods. I went to a summer resort for my health and was doctored all summer, but to no effect. I have not been unwell for two months and thought I would see if you could do me any good. I attend High School and would not like to miss any time if it is possible. MARION BARBER, North Adams, Mass.

Miss Barber writes again after two years

My Dear Mrs. PINKHAM:—Some time ago I wrote to you for advice, being troubled with irregular and painful periods and female troubles. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and using the Sanative Wash, and I am glad to say I am completely cured and have not had any sickness since. I wish to thank you for your kind advice and shall recommend your medicine to my girl friends. MARION BARBER, 101 Bracewell Ave., North Adams, Mass.

Free Advice for Young Girls

All young girls are earnestly urged to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for twenty-five years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge. Thousands of women are well, strong and beautiful to-day because they made a confidant of Mrs. Pinkham and followed her instructions at this critical time of their lives.

Many a girl who graduates from high school or female college with a brilliant record and high standing is broken down before she is twenty.

Nowadays girls are pushed to the limit of their endurance both in school and society. They must make a success—even if they are forever unfitted for the larger school of life and debarred from the happiness of motherhood.

NEW FORM

NEW PRESBYTERIAN PRAYER BOOK IS OUT.

Many Churches May Not Adopt the Innovation of a Prayer Ritual.

New York, May 11.—The new book of common worship has just been published with the authority of the Presbyterian general assembly. For three years a special committee on forms and services for the general assembly, headed by the Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, has been working on this new "prayer book" and the first copies of the completed book have just been received from the Presbyterian official board of publication. The title page of the book bears this significant announcement: "For voluntary use in churches."

This is the first time a prayer book has been offered for use in the Presbyterian church. The opposition to the book in the general assembly last year was particularly strong from Western missionaries. One of these sturdy representatives of the cloth expressed the sentiments of himself and fellows as follows: "Our way we have to eat canned vegetables, canned meat and canned milk, but we can't stand for canned prayers."

Now that the Presbyterian prayer book has been published, all that remains for those who are opposed to it is to refrain from its use, and it is predicted by Presbyterian leaders that a large number of churches will so refrain. But in the East and in the large cities of the country generally the new book is expected to be largely used.

As to the book itself, a number of Presbyterian pastors of the city are unanimous in the opinion that the work of Dr. Van Dyke's committee had been ably done. The book is arranged conveniently, the contents are such that practically all the regular and special church occasions are provided for, and more than one clergyman said the book would prove most useful, even if it were to be used only by a minister for his own guidance, and not put in the hands of the people of the congregation. "Obey" Not in Marriage Form.

In many particulars the book has points of similarity with the Episcopal book of common prayer. Some Episcopalians said that some of the forms of services and many of the prayers were, with a change of a word or two, bodily taken from their prayer book. To this assertion a Presbyterian editor made reply that as a matter of fact, the makers of the prayer book of the Episcopal church themselves had drawn on some older sources.

Women will be especially interested in the marriage ceremony in the new book, for it omits the word "obey" and it also omits reference to the "worldly goods" with which the man or woman in the Episcopal and some other marriage forms "endowed" each other.

Made Happy for Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Albans, Vt., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weakness, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by McPherson's drug store. Price 50c.

Sir Arthur Nicholson, the chief representative of the British mission at the recent Moroccan conference, is to receive the Knight Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George for his services at Algiers.

Find a Close Call.

"A dangerous surgical operation, involving the removal of a malignant ulcer, as large as my hand, from my daughter's hip, was prevented by the application of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says A. C. Stickle, of Milletts, W. Va. "Persistent use of the Salve completely cured it." Cures cuts, burns and injuries. 25c at McPherson's drug store.

The Texas Wonder

Cures all kidney, bladder and rheumatic troubles; sold by J. H. Oehl-schlaeger, 601 Broadway, Dr. E. W. Hall, office 2926 Olive street, St. Louis, Mo.

Famous Strike Breakers

The most famous strike breakers in the land are Dr. King's New Life Pills. When liver and bowels go on strike, they quickly settle the trouble, and the purifying work goes right on. Best cure for constipation, headache and dizziness. 25c at McPherson's drug store.

A HEROINE

HELPLESS GIRL IS CALLED "BRAVEST IN THE WORLD"

Nellie Nichols, Helpless Cripple, Organizes Society to Promote Cheerfulness.

Solon Springs, Wis., May 11.—This is the story of Nellie Carolyn Nichols, heroine:

She is 18 years old. She has never saved a life. She has never won a Carnegie medal. But her friends say she has fairly earned the title of "the bravest girl in the world."

For years and years she has never risen from her bed in a little cottage here. She is afflicted with spinal trouble, and cannot move her feet. Doctors tell her that she will never rise, that her case is incurable.

Yet she is cheerful. She has organized a "sunshine society," of which she is president. She has written a book. She contributes to magazines and newspapers. She laughs whenever she can.

She never allows herself to become gloomy, or to brood over her troubles.

The girl is absolutely helpless. She can move her hands and her head, but that is all. So sensitive are the paralyzed portions of her body that a frame is necessary to keep the weight of the bedclothes off her feet.

The best specialists of America have examined Miss Nichols, and her parents have spent a small fortune in the vain hope of curing her. All hope has now been given up.

To occupy her mind the girl took to writing and soon developed literary talent. She contributes largely to two magazines, both in prose and verse. She has written an illustrated book on her life and views. The proceeds of this and other literary work go toward building additions to the tiny cottage in which she lives.

Miss Nichols, finding that many "shut-ins" had not her own courage and cheerfulness in the face of adversity, set about organizing a league which she named the "Sunshine Association," which has 97 members in various parts of the country—all bedridden invalids. It has a monthly organ, called "Hearthside," published at Manhattan, N. Y.

Several ministers have become greatly interested in the young girl, through sermons which she has written, displaying an unusual depth of thought and theological learning. They are aiding her in the efforts to win literary recognition.

A Vene of Blood.

The year 1902 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me to death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for sore lungs, coughs and colds, at McPherson's Drug Store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

ALDERMEN MEET

BODY REMAINS IN SESSION BUT SHORT TIME.

Vote to Grant Carnival Privileges and Decide to Prosecute Telephone Suit—Attn: Hills.

The aldermanic board met last night in regular session with Alderman Chamblin absent. The meeting lasted but a few minutes, just long enough to transact the most urgent business, and adjourned, the regular council chamber being in disorder due to repairs.

The mayor pro tem, Alderman O. B. Starks, read a proclamation changing the meeting place from the council chamber to the city court room.

The finance committee report was read. It was for bills, salaries, etc. The report was favorably acted on.

The mayor was authorized to sign a joint deed from city and school boards to property in Mechanicsburg which has been sold to church people.

The solicitor was instructed to proceed with the telephone litigation the board not desiring to effect a compromise.

The Paducah Carnival Association was granted the usual concession and privileges, Alderman Starks voting nay. He later ruled this motion out of order, but Alderman Palmer took an appeal from the chair and the matter was unanimously taken up and favorably acted on.

The board adjourned to meet again Monday night at 7:30.

He started nervously and faced her almost roughly. "Who is happy?" he demanded, sneering. "Are you?"

She shrank slightly. "Somehow I think that a woman is never happy," she responded gently, "but you—"

He leaned toward her, a swift change crossing his face, his keen

"Five days ago a man called me a devil," he said.

glance softening to compassion. "Then it is distinctly unfair," he said. "What is goodness for if it does not make one happy? I am a rougher lot, and I get my desserts, but the world should be gentle to a thing like you."

"No, no," she protested. "I am not good."

His eyes lightened. "Any unadorned meanness punishable by law?"

"I am disconcerted," she went on. "I care when things go wrong. I am not a saint."

"I might have known it," he remarked. "For you wouldn't have spoken to me. I have known lots of saints, mostly women, and they always look the other way when a sinner comes along. The reputation of a saint is the most sensitive thing on earth. It should be kept in a glass case."

"Are you so very wicked?" she asked. He was gazing out to sea, where the water broke into waves of deepening gray. In the sky a single star shone like an emerald set in a fawn-colored dome. The lapping sound of the waves at the vessel's sides came softly through the stillness. Suddenly he spoke, his voice ringing like a jarring discord in a harmonious whole.

"Five days ago a man called me a devil," he said, "and I guess he wasn't far wrong, only I was a single devil for a moment steeped in one. What a scandal he was!"

The passion in his tones caused her to start quickly. The words were shot out with the force of balls from a cannon, sustained by the impulse of evil. "Don't," she said pleadingly; "please, please don't!"

"Don't what?" he demanded roughly. "Don't curse the blackest scoundrel that ever lived—and died?" Over the last word his voice weakened as if in appeal.

"Don't curse anybody," she answered. "It is not like you."

He turned upon her suspiciously. "Fshaw! How do you know?"

"I don't know. I only believe."

"I never had such use for belief," he returned. "It is a poor sort of thing."

She met his bitter gaze with one of level calm. "And yet men have suffered death for it."

Above her head an electric jet was whirling, and it cast a white light upon her small figure buried under the mass of rugs. Her eyes were glowing. There was a soft suspicion upon her lashes, whether from the salt spray or from unshed tears he could not tell.

"Well, believe in me if you choose," he said. "It won't do any harm even if it doesn't do any good."

During the next few days he nursed her with constant care. When she came out in the morning she found him waiting at the foot of the stairs, ready to assist her on deck. When she went down at night it was his arm upon which she leaned and his voice that wished her "Good night" before her stateroom door. Her meals were served outside, and she soon found that his watchfulness extended to a host of trivialities.

It was not a confidential companionship. Sometimes they sat for hours without speaking and again he attacked her with aggressive irony. At such times she smiled beneath the sting of his sneers, but there was more in pity for him than for herself. He seemed to carry in his heart a seething rage of cynicism, impassioned if impotent. When he broke control, as it often did, it lashed like the just and the unjust, the sterner and the sinned against. It did not spare the woman for whose comfort he sacrificed himself daily in a dozen minor ways. It was as if he hated himself for the interest he inspired, and hated her for inspiring it. He appeared to resent the fact that the mental pressure under which he labored had not nullified all possibility of purer passion. And he often closed upon a gentler mood with burning bitterness.

"How about your faith?" he inquired one day after a passing tenderness. "Is it still the evidence of virtues not visible in me?"

She flushed, as she always did at his fluency. "There is circumstantial evidence of those," she replied, "sufficient to confound a jury."

"There was a cloud upon his face. 'If the mistletoe angel kind, I suppose,' he suggested.

"Your judgment is warped," he went on. "Do you expect to convince by such syllogisms as: It is virtuous to make presents of prizes; he makes me presents of prizes; therefore he is virtuous?"

She looked at him with wounded eyes. "That is not kind of you," she said.

"But, my dear lady, I am not kind. That is what I am arguing for."

Her lips closed firmly. She did not answer.

"Is the assertion admitted?" he inquired.

Her mouth quivered. He saw it, and his mood melted.

"Do you mean to say," he asked, adjusting the rug about her shoulders and regarding her with an intent gaze, "that it makes any difference to you?"

"The fragment of a sob broke from her. 'Of course it makes a difference,' she answered, 'to be treated so.'"

His hand closed firmly over the rug and rested against her shoulder.

"Why does it make a difference?" he demanded.

She stammered confusedly. "Because because it does," she replied.

His face was very grave. The hand upon her shoulder trembled. "I hope it does not make a difference," he said. "Look! There is a sail!"

They rose and went to the railing, following with unseeing eyes a white sail that skirted the horizon. At the vessel's side porpoises were leaping on the waves. She leaned over, her eyes brightening, her loosened hair blowing about her face in soft brown strands. There was a pink flush in her cheeks. "I should like to be a porpoise," she said, "and to skim that blue water in the sunshine. How happy they are!"

"And you are not?"

The flush died from her cheeks. "Oh, no," she answered.

He leaned nearer. His hand brushed hers as it lay upon the railing.

"Did love make you happy?" he asked suddenly.

She raised her lashes, and their eyes met. "Love?" she repeated vaguely.

"That husband of yours," he explained almost harshly, "did you love him?"

Her gaze went back to the water. A wistful tremor shook her lips. "He was very good to me," she replied.

"And I suppose you loved him because he was good. Well, the reason suffices."

She looked at him steadily. "Because he was good to me," she corrected. Then she hesitated. "But I did not love him in the way you mean," she added. "I know now that I did not."

"Then," he ejaculated half absently and then, "How do you know it?"

She turned from him, looking after the vanishing sail, just visible in the remote violet of the distance. "There are many ways"—

His eyes rested upon the soft outline of her ear, half hidden in her downy hair. "What are they?"

She turned her face still farther from him. "It made no difference to me," she said. "Whether he came or went, I worried no more to him with him, and I was very selfish. When he kissed me it left me cold."

His gaze stung her sharply. "And if you loved some one," he said, "it would make a great difference to you whether he came or went? It would gladden you to be with him, and when he kissed you it would not leave you cold?"

"I think so," she answered.

He bent toward her swiftly, then checked himself, with a quivering laugh. "I'll give you a piece of valuable advice," he said. "Don't allow yourself to grow sentimental. It is awful rot."

And he threw himself into his chair. He drew a notebook from his pocket, and when she seated herself he did not look up. There was a gray cast about his face, and his lips were compressed. She noticed that he was older than she at first supposed and that the hand with which he held the pen twitched nervously; then she lay watching him hidly from beneath lowered lids.

An hour later he looked up, and their glances met. With sudden determination he closed the book and replaced it in his pocket. "You look pale," he remarked abruptly.

"Do I?" she questioned inanimately. "I do not see any reason why I should not."

"Perhaps, so long as it is not unbecoming to you."

"Why will you say such things?" she demanded angrily. "I detest them."

"Indeed? Yes, pallor is not unbecoming to you. It gives you an interesting look."

She rubbed the cheek next him with the edge of her rug until it glowed scarlet. "There!" she exclaimed in resentment.

"That gives you a radiant look," he remarked composedly.

Her eyes flashed. "You will make me hate you," she retorted.

He smiled slightly, his eyes half sad. "I am trying to," he responded.

She stamped her foot with impatience. "Then you won't succeed. I will not hate you. Do you hear? I will not!"

"Is it a question of will?"

"In this case, yes."

"Do you hate as you choose—and love?" he asked.

"I don't know," she replied. "I hardly think I could hate you if I would, despite your—your hatefulness."

"Not though it were a part of wisdom?"

"Wisdom has nothing to do with—" "With what?" he questioned.

"With hate."

"Nor with love?"

"Nor with love."

He shook himself free from an inhuman weight, passing his hand across his contracted brow. "Then so much the worse for hate," he responded, "and for love."

As she did not answer he spoke freely. "When you love, love a virtuous, straightway plodder," he said. "Love a man because he is decent—because he is decent and plain and all the things that the romancers laugh at. Love a fool, if you will, but let him be a fool who goes to his office at 9 and leaves it at 5; who craves no more exciting atmosphere than the domestic one of house girl worries and teething babies. If you ever find yourself loving a man like me, you had better make for the nearest lamp post and—hang—"

"Hush!" she cried, her cheeks flaming. "How—how dare you?" Her voice broke sharply, and she fell to sobbing behind her raised hands.

"My God!" he said softly. She felt his breath upon her forehead, and a tremor passed over her. Then his hands fastened upon hers and drew them from her eyes. He was panting like a man who has run a race.

She was looking straight before her. A small homing bird alighted for a swift instant on the railing near them, scanning suspiciously the deserted corner, and she knew that that bird would be hounded on her memory forever after. Then she felt the man's lips close upon her own.

"You shall love me," he said, "and right be damned!"

She stepped out upon the deck, her eyes shining. He met her moodily. "Shall we walk up into the bow?" he asked.

The Best Guaranty of Merit Is Open Publicity.

Every bottle of Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicine leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., has printed upon its wrapper all the ingredients entering into its composition. This fact alone places Dr. Pierce's Family Medicine in a class all by themselves. They cannot be classed with patent or secret medicines because they are neither. This is why so many unprejudiced physicians prescribe them and recommend them to their patients. They know what they are composed of, and that the ingredients are those endorsed by the most eminent medical authorities.

The further fact that neither Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart regulator and blood purifier, nor his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, overworked, broken-down, nervous women, contains any alcohol, also entitles them to a place all by themselves.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine of proper strength, is a better solvent and preservative of the medicinal principles residing in our indigenous, or native, medicinal plants than is alcohol; and, furthermore, that it possesses valuable medicinal properties of its own, being demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic, and a most efficient anaphrodisiac.

Neither of the above medicines contains alcohol, or any harmful, habit-forming drug, as will be seen from a study of the formula printed on each bottle wrapper. They are safe to use and potent to cure.

Not only do physicians prescribe the above medicines largely, but the most intelligent people employ them—people who would not think of using the ordinary patent or secret medicines. Every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines has the strongest kind of an endorsement from leading medical writers of the several schools of practice. No other medicines put up for like purposes has any such professional endorsement.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." Easy to take as candy.

BROTHER KILLED BY INSANE BROTHER.

Victim W. H. Sylvester, President of First National Bank of Montezuma, Ind.

Montezuma, Ind., May 11.—W. H. Sylvester, president of the First National bank of Montezuma, was shot and killed yesterday in his home by his brother whose mind is believed to be affected. Stephen Sylvester, the brother who did the shooting, was injured seven years ago by a fall and his mind has been affected since.

The shooting followed a quarrel at the home of W. H. Sylvester, the dead man, who was one of the most prominent men in the community. Stephen had demanded money from his brother and a quarrel and a fist fight followed. A neighbor named Pitman was called in by Mrs. Sylvester and he separated the men. Stephen agreeing to return to his home, Pitman released him and Stephen drew a revolver and fired a bullet into his brother's stomach, killing him almost instantly. Stephen ran from the house to his own home and took refuge in a shed recently built by him with an iron roof and wooden walls eight inches thick. In this he had placed a number of revolvers, rifles and ammunition. He intrenched himself inside, shouting through the door that he would never be taken alive. The sheriff at once began organizing a posse and declared he would take the man dead or alive. Stephen Sylvester is unmarried.

Contractors Must Remove Debris.

The board of public works has instructed Street Inspector Almonzo Elliott to notify the contractors reconstructing Kentucky avenue and Jefferson street to remove all debris and discarded material from the streets. The contractors will be permitted to store only material used in the construction of the street, in the thoroughfares. This is done in order to preclude the possibility of an accident and damage suit against the city.

ATTEMPT TO UNSEAT GOVERNOR PATTISON

Will Be Made on Ground That He Is Too Ill to Serve.

Columbus, O., May 11.—Sensation in reports that Capt. Coleman Gilliam of Portsmouth, a member of the Ohio board of penitentiary managers, is to contest the appointment of Edward W. Crayton, of Newark, to succeed him and thus bring up the question of the alleged disability of Gov. Pattison and his consequent inability to make appointments were denied by Mr. Gilliam just before going to the executive meeting of the board.

"I have no intention to file a contest of this appointment," he said. "If the governor wants Crayton to succeed me, I am sure I will not fight it."

Secretary to the Governor Houch said:

"I know nothing of the report that an effort is to be legally made to test the matter of the governor's appointments on the ground that he is ill and physically unable to make appointments, and that Lieut. Gov. Harris will be called upon to assume the duties of governor. Such an attempt may be made, but I have no knowledge of it."

Attorney Emmet Tompkins, who represents those who are questioning the constitutionality of the governor's acts, reiterated today that a suit will be brought and an effort will be made to have Lieut. Gov. Harris to take the governor's chair and a protest will be made against the appointment of Mr. Crayton.

Growing Aches and Pains.

Mrs. Josie Sumner, Bremend, Tex., writes, April 15, 1902: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment in my family for three years. I would not be without it in the house. I have used it on my little girl for growing pains and aches in her knees. It cured her right away. I have also used it for frost bitten feet, with good success. It is the best liniment I ever used." 25c, 50c and $1.00.

Condition Hopeless.

Mr. George Phillips, manager of the Webb-Phillips company, is dangerously ill and his condition is considered hopeless. He is lying in his mother's home on Jefferson street near Ninth in a precarious condition under the constant attention of a physician and a trained nurse. He is suffering from a general breakdown the result of a severe attack of typhoid fever last summer.

A Positive Necessity.

Having to lay upon my bed for 14 days from a severely bruised leg, I only found relief when I used a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. I can cheerfully recommend it as the best medicine for bruises ever sent to the afflicted. It has now become a positive necessity upon myself.

EXPERTS ARE WORKING ON SPIES' ACCOUNTS

Dead Broker Left $100,000 in Insurance—No Irregularities Reported.

New York, May 11.—The Herald says that experts are examining the books of Charles L. Spier, the confidential employee of H. H. Rogers, and whose death from a bullet wound at his Staten Island home early Monday is not yet officially explained.

Mr. Rogers was asked regarding the developments of this investigation and is quoted by the Herald as follows:

"This matter is one I am averse to discussing. As a matter of fact, it is too early to talk of the condition in which Spier left his affairs. It is true expert accountants are going over his books and papers, and until they have completed their work it is impossible to exactly determine what result they will reach. They have thus far examined the stock books and it will be necessary to go over the check and bank books and other papers before any authoritative statement can be made."

EARLY SHOWING OF SOME LATE ARRIVALS

We have just gotten in about the swellest line of Two-Piece Suits you ever laid your eyes on. Somehow or other our stock seems to us more attractive than ever this spring. It may be the new weaves, the rich colorings or perhaps it is the long graceful modeling of the coat which creates this impression. But whatever it is you are dead certain to feel it on sight; EVERYBODY DOES. You may never have realized how well made a two-piece suit must be in order to rank as a "good value." Usually skeleton-lined, very little padding and all that kind of thing, it just naturally has to be made on honor in order to look like a real suit of clothes after the first week's wear or a little summer shower. Our clothes are all made on that way--on honor. You'll feel well dressed till you're "out at the elbow" in one of our Suits. From $7.50 to $20.00.

GRAY FAMILY ON FASHION DUTY AT WEILLE'S

The New Orleans Picayune of Tuesday says: The Natchez Transportation company's big steamer Natchez will leave tomorrow evening or Thursday morning for Paducah, Ky., going through without freight or passengers, and soon after her arrival there will be hauled out on the ways and made almost as good as new. Capt. Wm. A. Duke, president and general manager of the company, who will go up on the Natchez and superintend her repairs, states that the work on her will consume about 30 days, and when completed she will be taken to St. Louis to load for this city.

The Louisville Herald of Tuesday says: What is considered by steamboat officials one of the most important and far-reaching decisions handed down in some time was received yesterday by Judge W. G. Dearing, collector of customs and surveyor of the port, in connection with an appeal taken on his interpretation of the laws for measurement of boats. The law provides that all boats whose tonnage exceeds 15 tons shall come under the regulations of the steamboat supervision department, and that they shall have a licensed pilot and other equipment designated by the rules. This law has been loosely interpreted, but Judge Dearing decided, after studying the situation since he entered the office of surveyor of the port, that the 15 tons mentioned is 15 tons gross. Heretofore many boats whose gross tonnage is over 30 tons have been allowed to remain outside the jurisdiction of the regular inspection because of the fact that the net tonnage was taken and the machinery not included in the measurements. The question arose in connection with the measurement of the Little Sandy at Frankfort. It had been built, according to the officials, with a view to escaping the regulations, as its net tonnage is under 15 tons. Including its machinery however, its tonnage is 38 tons. Judge Dearing, therefore, decided that it must be regularly inspected, and his decision was questioned by the owners. He submitted the question to the commissioner of navigation, who sustained his view. No distinction has heretofore been made in the gross and net tonnage, and this has led to many inconsistencies in the measurement, compared to methods used elsewhere. It is possible that many of the gasoline boats, whose tonnage has heretofore been fixed at 15 tons, exclusive of machinery, will now be raised above the mark and will be compelled to submit to the regulations. Should this be done, the fight of the local steamboatmen, who have for a long while been protesting against the status of these boats, contending that they are really over 15 tons, but have been carrying freight and passengers without a licensed pilot on the ground that they are below that tonnage, will have been won.

News has been received here of the death of Charles Huckleberry, manager of the marine ways at Mound City, which occurred at his home in that place at 6:35 o'clock Thursday evening. Some months ago he contracted consumption and the disease made its usual deadly progress. The decedent was unmarried and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Friganza, a brother, Ira Huckleberry and a step-brother, Willis T. Friganza.
